SPIRITUAL CARE FOR ALL NURSES

This 6 hour course has been designed by Australian nurse educators with a passion to improve holistic health outcomes within the broad spectrum of the nursing community.

The purpose of this course is to equip all nurses to gain a greater understanding of the importance of including spiritual care within the context of person-centred care for their patients.

Spiritual Care for All Nurses has been designed from a Christian perspective, however it is intentionally and respectfully inclusive of other faith communities, indigenous culture and world views.

Wednesday 28th October 2026

8:30am - 3:30pm

SCAN complies with the Aged Care Act 2024 through a Statement of Rights (1 Nov 2025) that outlines fundamental rights for people receiving Australian Government-funded aged care, ensuring safe, high quality care, dignity and personal choice. This includes the individuals' right to spiritual care (Section 23: 3c and 12b).

The Fact Sheet from the Department of Health, Disability and Ageing states that individuals "have a right to access funded aged care services from: workers with the right training, skills and experience".

NCFI-PACEA Pre Conference Course

The six sessions cover:

- What is spiritual care in the nursing context?
- What barriers to, and opportunities for, promoting spiritual care do nurses have in the workplace?
- What are some assessment models and tools available to identify spiritual distress and implement care?
- What does the global, evidence-based research demonstrate?
- Understanding the importance and strategies of self care.
- Practical change for the nursing context with resources to support ongoing learning experiences.
